

NEXUS GLOBAL DYNAMIC PORTFOLIO B (EURO)

A Sub Fund of Libero International SICAV plc

FACTSHEET - November 2022

INVESTMENT PROCESS

The fund manager's approach to investment combines strong valuation disciplines within a long-term strategic framework, together with a willingness to adjust asset allocation and stock selection in response to short term market opportunities. The Fund is not constrained by one particular investment style such as growth or value, but instead the manager believes that the best returns are achieved by correctly positioning the portfolio to benefit at all stages of each economic cycle. The manager has the mandate to search out value globally and is not constrained by benchmarks and so is well-placed to judge the relative merits of a wide range of investment opportunities. Irrespective of geographic locations, close attention is paid to individual companies in addition to understanding economic conditions. High conviction ideas are supported by a combination of quantitative analysis, in-house research and company visits.

MARKET COMMENTARY

October was a better month for global equities, providing some relief from the falls seen throughout most of 2022 so far. Nexus Dynamic benefitted from this, rising 3.31% over the month.

Equity markets ended the month on a more positive footing with developed market equities registering healthy returns. Emerging market equities fell 3% however, with Chinese indices coming under pressure. Markets seem less fazed by the expected reappointment of President Xi, and more concerned about the changes that he implemented within the party leadership, together with the focus on reducing China's exposure to overseas interests, potentially at the expense of economic growth.

The combination of high inflation and a robust labour market continued to support hawkish action from central banks. The European Central Bank announced another 0.75% hike and the Federal Reserve followed suit in early November. Rishi Sunak was appointed as the UK's new prime minister, while the retained chancellor Jeremy Hunt reversed many of the previous chancellor's tax cuts and vowed to deliver a much more restrained budget in mid-November, causing sterling to have a stronger month.

Value stocks outperformed growth stocks in October, with banks, industrials and oil stocks performing well over the month. Growth stocks lagged following earnings misses and lowered outlooks from several mega-cap technology and internet-related stocks.

While the economic outlook remains challenging, declines in equity markets in the year to the end of September suggested that a significant amount of bad news was already priced in. With the focus on both liquidity and quality remaining in place, Dynamic remains well positioned ride out any continued market turbulence whilst ready to benefit for when the financial outlook improves.

INVESTMENT THEMES

Darktrace

Darktrace is a Cambridge UK based cyber security company with 2000 employees and over 7000 customers in 30 offices around the globe. Their products use artificial intelligence (AI) to detect, respond and repair company's IT infrastructure during cyber security attacks. This AI software is designed to reduce the workload on overstretched cyber security teams, saving them time and providing broad coverage across an organisation. We are of the view that improving security is a priority with most companies, with Boardroom significance. This makes security and Darktrace an essential, not discretionary, budget item. In October we made an investment.

References to specific securities are not recommendations to buy or sell those securities.

OBJECTIVE

The Nexus Global Dynamic Portfolio is an actively managed, globally diversified equity portfolio. The aim is for capital growth over the medium term. An understanding of macro economic conditions together with detailed research into individual securities is used to construct a diversified, highly liquid portfolio.
