

NEXUS GLOBAL DYNAMIC PORTFOLIO A (EURO)

A Sub Fund of Libero International SICAV plc

FACTSHEET - March 2023

INVESTMENT PROCESS

The fund manager's approach to investment combines strong valuation disciplines within a long-term strategic framework, together with a willingness to adjust asset allocation and stock selection in response to short term market opportunities. The Fund is not constrained by one particular investment style such as growth or value, but instead the manager believes that the best returns are achieved by correctly positioning the portfolio to benefit at all stages of each economic cycle. The manager has the mandate to search out value globally and is not constrained by benchmarks and so is well-placed to judge the relative merits of a wide range of investment opportunities. Irrespective of geographic locations, close attention is paid to individual companies in addition to understanding economic conditions. High conviction ideas are supported by a combination of quantitative analysis, in-house research and company visits.

MARKET COMMENTARY

The strong start to 2023 petered out slightly in February, with Nexus Dynamic paring some of the year-to-date gain with a monthly return of -1.06%.

February was marked by a reversal in the market's expectations around the persistence of inflation. This shift occurred due to a series of hotter-than-expected inflation prints and tighter-than-expected labour market reports. Many economic indicators repeatedly exceeded analysts' estimates, causing investors to revise their expectations of future inflation and central banks' policy rates. This led to a move higher in bond yields and a decline in equity markets.

The European Central Bank (ECB), Bank of England and Federal Reserve (the Fed) all announced rate hikes at the start of the month, in line with expectations. The message that emerged from the accompanying statements was that despite the recent declines in inflation the central banks' job is not done yet.

European gas prices declined to €50 per megawatt hour (down 40% year-to-date and 84% below last year's peak) as gas storage levels remained very high for this time of year, despite the lack of Russian gas supply. The lower cost of energy is driving an improvement in consumer and business confidence and has helped support the outperformance of European stocks. Chinese stocks were weak in February after escalating geopolitical tensions drove some profit taking in the region following its strong rally since their October lows. Cyber security stocks had a pleasing month, with Darktrace and Palo Alto among the best performers.

Ongoing uncertainty about the trajectory of inflation and interest rates could result in continued volatility. Nevertheless, the current lower level of equity valuations compared to the beginning of 2022 means that markets might be less vulnerable to risks, with investors more willing to look through near-term headwinds.

INVESTMENT THEMES

Zoetis

Zoetis is the largest global animal health company. It is the biggest company in animal health pharmaceuticals, offering drugs, vaccines, medicated animal feeds and diagnostic products for both pets and livestock. Compared to human health, animal health experiences shorter and cheaper development timelines, reduced payer complexity and less reliance on blockbuster drugs. Zoetis is well positioned for future growth given its market leadership position, global scale, pipeline and financial strength.

OBJECTIVE

The Nexus Global Dynamic Portfolio is an actively managed, globally diversified equity portfolio. The aim is for capital growth over the medium term. An understanding of macro economic conditions together with detailed research into individual securities is used to construct a diversified, highly liquid portfolio.
